Ice man

Pushcarts offer some residents a cool reminder of their native land

By Joe Bel Bruno
North County News

The sound is enough for Javier Puentes to recall childhood memories of long summer days.

Puentes remember waiting patiently until the chimes of a bell got close to his home. He knew at the other end would be a man pushing a white cart filled with flavored ice. For only a few coins, it was an inexpensive way to beat the heat.

Now, his children hear the same sounds in the Santa Fe neighborhood. The travels of the gelato cart has criss-crossed generations and national borders.

For the Puentes, the flavored ice is more than good to eat. The vendors that walk through mostly Hispanic neighborhoods in the city are continuing a tradition. It is a part of their culture, he said.

"It is hard to maintain a sense of tradition when you move to another country. That's what makes these carts so unique," Puentes said. "The kids don't think of it this way — just like when I was their age. They just want to get the wrapper off."

That's exactly what Troy Holloman wanted to do. The 13-year-old stood in front of the cart, thinking about which one of the flavors he would try. To choose from was strawberry, kiwi, tamarillo and other exotic fruit flavors that can't be found in the frozen section of the supermarket.

He settled on strawberry.

"I think they are really good," he said. "I used to stay away from these carts, but a friend made me try one last year. Since then I guess I've been hooked on them...because there are unusual flavors."

It wasn't the flavors that keeps Mark Baldwin from lining up in front of the cart each week. For him, it is a matter of convenience.

"You don't see the 'ice cream man' very often anymore, but these guys are all over the place," he said. "I always see them in the park and around that area. So, it's pretty easy to just get some...and they are good."

Placentia has about a half dozen vendors that circulate through residential neighborhoods, Santa Fe business area and Kraemer Park hocking the frozen treats, according to the city.

Each one of them are required to pay a business license — which would run about $33 a year. The only stipulation they have is to not stand in one spot all day long. They are required to keep moving.

Metal detectors approved

Weapon searches will be random

By Joe Bel Bruno
North County News

Educators at local high schools will be bring more than just lesson plans when schools open in September.

Those in charge of discipline at Valencia, El Dorado and Esperanza high schools also will bring hand-held metal detectors.

The Placentia Yorba Linda Unified School District board of trustees on Tuesday decided to start a pilot program to use the devices to prevent students from bringing weapons to school.

The new policy was adopted 5-0.

The board had examined the new policy during two previous meetings. It was passed with no discussion or objection from the audience.

"This will give us a chance to check this idea out at secondary schools. A report will follow, and then we'll have the decision to expand it districtwide," said school board member Craig Olson. "We're secure in the decision."

The metal detectors will be used on a random basis and school officials using them will be instructed not to target any particular student.

The only objection for the policy came from board member Bill Kielty at a previous meeting. Kiley is concerned about discrimination.

The devices also will be used at activities such as dances and football games. District officials believe they will act as a deterrent for students who might carry a weapon on to campus.

District officials reported in March that 13 students had been expelled for carrying weapons on campus. None those weapons were firearms.

The district is one of only a handful in Orange County to use metal detectors on a random basis. Other schools have reported that their programs are success-

NEWS BRIEFS

City moves to correct violations at apartment

The city is taking steps to revoke a permit granted to an apartment building owner who is also using the site to manufacture clothing.

That was just one of many violations found at 219 S. Melrose St. after city and Orange County building inspectors toured there earlier this month. It was also discovered that two units had been illegally added to the apartment complex.

The Planning Commission on Tuesday voted 4-0 to begin proceedings to revoke the permit. The City Council still needs to approve the hearings.

"The city has been working with them to bring the building in compliance, however the property owner hasn't been responsive," said city planner Ray Pasqua. "The next step is to go through a hearing to revoke the permit."

Residential units OKd for Santa Fe area

A mistake by city planners in 1991 inadvertently deleted part of a municipal code that allowed shop owners in the downtown Santa Fe neighborhood the ability to construct residential units above their businesses.

The Planning Commission on Tuesday voted 4-0 to correct the mistake.

The section of the municipal code was erased when the Planning Commission was amending it to allow business owners the ability to build residential units in the rear of a commercial site. City planners didn't realize the mistake until earlier this year.

"We didn't realize that we deleted the part about building on the second floor, so we just put that back in," Pasqua said. "Now, everything's back to normal."

POLITICS

Potential council candidates getting ready

By Joe Bel Bruno
North County News

Residents interested in local politics already are positioning themselves to run for two City Council seats that will be contested in the November election.

They're showing up at city meetings. Some sit quietly in the back row of the City Council chambers, carefully studying and making notes of what takes place. Others use the open comments period of council meetings to lash out at city leaders.

It has put members of the council on the hot seat, especially Mayor Norman Eckenrode and Councilwoman Carol Downey, whose terms expire this year. It's an election that could shift the ideological control of the council.

"It is very hard to predict the mood of voters," said Art Newton, a former councilman who now acts as a political consultant. "One scenario is the two people elected to the council might fall in line with the way Maria Moreno votes and form a majority."

Though the current council agrees on most issues, Moreno was the only member last year to vote against increasing the utility tax as a way to balance the budget. Approval of the tax has become the rallying point for voters unsatisfied with local government.

Dozens of residents spoke against the tax during public hearings on the budget. Many vowed during the hearings that they would retaliate by voting the council out and voting in people who would repeal the tax.

"I think this is going to be an exciting election," Moreno said. "Voters are now saying 'enough is enough' and are getting involved."

July 18 will be the first day residents political aspirants can file nomination papers with the City Clerk's office.

Candidates for City Council must file nomination papers along with 28 signatures to the City Clerk by Aug. 12. Candidates will contest for

Chamber hires director

Gallo to host 1st Placentia chamber breakfast meeting

By Joe Bel Bruno
North County News

It will be just like old times for Carol Gallo when she hosts today's Chamber of Commerce breakfast at the Alta Vista Country Club.

Though Gallo has only been executive director of the business organization for the past month, running a chamber of commerce event is old hat for her. She's headed chambers in Southern California for more than a decade before taking over the helm in Placentia.

"I won't be nervous or anything," said Gallo, who took over after David Musgrove resigned March 1. "I think I've been to a million of these things."

Gallo hopes to bring her experience with other chambers to Placentia. She began her career in Blythe in 1973, and has worked at chambers in Chino, Chino Valley and Corona.

She has also operated her own business called The Welcome Matt Service, which greeted new residents that moved into the Inland Valley area. Gallo closed the business last fall to pursue other options, she said.

The chambers she has operated have been much larger than Placentia, she said. However, she believes jump-starting the local chamber with new members will be a difficult task.

"Placentia is a small chamber, but I'm having a great time so far," she said.

"I feel like even though it is a small chamber that I'm going to have some big challenges here. I would like to see our membership built up ... because I think the potential is here."

Gallo is expected to have her hands full.

The chamber has been on the rebound since organization leaders appealed to the City Council last year for a loan to keep their doors open.

They claimed that merchants hit hard by the economy were unable to pay annual membership dues. The chamber has about 300 members who pay dues that range from $150 to $300 a year.

Stan Bird/North County News
Carol Gallo aims to build the membership of the Chamber of Commerce.

Since then, Musgrove and President Al Shkoler have guided the chamber back on track with new programs and easier payment plans for members. Gallo said she will "continue that by instituting new programs of her own.

"I want to bring some new ideas to the chamber to pull in members, things like our Business Expo that's coming up next month."

Woman arrested at acupressure studio

She is charged for soliciting officer for prostitution

By Joe Bel Bruno
North County News

Police ended a month-long investigation of an acupressure studio with the arrest of a 37-year-old woman for soliciting an undercover officer for prostitution.

This is the first arrest made at Jae's Acupressure studio at 143 N. Bradford Ave. since it opened in December. Police have received several complaints from residents and nearby businesses about the studio, located one block from Valencia High School.

"We don't know if there is any legitimate acupressure going on in there, but we did get anonymous complaints from customers and private citizens," said police spokeswoman Corrine Loomis. "It is obvious to say that their investigation of this business is not completed."

Hae Suk Ye allegedly offered the officer an acupressure treatment for $20. When the officer was taken back into a private room and instructed to sit on a massage table, Ye then offered sexual acts for another $80, police said.

She was booked on one charge of soliciting prostitution and was released on a citation. Ye will face criminal charges at a May 16 court hearing.

Officers will continue to monitor the business for further violations, Loomis said.

"To shut the place down we are going to need more arrests and have the owner present when this goes on," she said. "The owner wasn't present when we made the arrest."

Owner Jae Ok Yu, who is listed as the sole proprietor in city records, could not be reached for comment. Yu was granted a business permit with the city last April, and opened the business eight months later.

The arrest comes after the city enacted a law that requires massage parlors, acupressure and acupuncture clinics to receive approval from the Planning Commission before opening. In the past, such businesses did not have to go through a public hearing before opening.

Jae's Acupressure was given a business permit before the law took effect. It is the only one currently operating in the city.

"We started this law so that we would make the ultimate decision on if these were to be legitimate businesses," said Development Services Director Joyce Rosenthal, who oversees the city's planning department.

"We don't want this going on in our city."

Trustees say students will need parents' OK for 'Schindler's List'

By Joe Bel Bruno
North County News

High school students studying the Holocaust in history classes might get an accurate portrait of the era by watching the film "Schindler's List" but are being hassled instead because the movie carries an 'R' rating.

Teachers at several high schools want to take students to see the film and encourage them to watch it on their own to help their studies.

It has caused a legal problem for school district officials, who can't legally support students younger than 18 attending a film they aren't allowed into without an adult.

The Placentia Yorba Linda Unified School District board of trustees solved the quandary Tuesday night. Without taking a vote, they indicated to Superintendent James Fleming that a trip to see the film is all right as long as they receive parent permission.

BOARD

ful, Superintendent James Flaming said.

Placentia Police Chief Manuel Ortega first brought up the idea last year during a meeting with school principals. He doesn't promise metal detectors will eliminate weapons on campus but he does believe it will help.

"I don't think this is the magic solution to this problem," Ortega said. "But, I don't want to find out somewhere down the road that a student was injured — or worse — by a weapon that could have been found if the school was using a metal detector."

The district also took another step in trying to battle youth violence on campus. Board members updated the district's dress policy to target baseball caps that feature athletic teams.

Law enforcement agencies have reported some of the team logos and their colors can signify gang affiliations.

CHAMBER

FROM 3

Gallo said. "I hope to draw off my experience at other chambers and come up with some innovative ideas."

The chamber sponsors seminars, business breakfasts, mixers and the city's annual Heritage Festival. It also fields about 3,000 phone calls and 700 visitors every three months.

Shkoler said he has been impressed with Gallo since meeting her last month. He believes her experience will be an asset.

"She's done a lot with her career, so we are lucky to have her," he said. "Carol fits right in here. I'm looking forward to a very productive year for the chamber."

Students get taste of how government works

By Joe Bel Bruno
North County News

It was a civics lesson students won't get from their high school textbooks.

Instead of reading about how a city government operates, students actually get a chance to participate in it.

Local high school students on April 19 participated in Student In Government Day. The program gave them a chance to fill the shoes of city officials during a City Council meeting.

For El Dorado student Kiran Jain it meant play the part of Police Chief Manuel Ortega. She was asked to give a presentation before the City Council, comprised of high school students, on such issues as metal detectors on campus and teen drinking.

Coming up to speed wasn't easy, Jain said.

"There was a lot to remember, a lot to go over," said Jain, who met with Ortega throughout the day. "It is a hard job to do ... very important to be in charge of safety for an entire city."

She was asked several times during the mock hearing to speak before the City Council. Each time, she glanced at Ortega standing in the corner for a nod of approval.

Ortega just grinned.

"She was doing great, maybe even better than me," he said. "In fact, maybe I'll just send her out to make the speeches to free more of the votes of about 20,000 registered voters in the city.

Businessman Howard Kay might be among the most visible and vocal of the possible candidates. He's been making appearances at City Council meetings each month, lambasting council members on everything from wasteful spending to noisy leafblowers.

Kay finished last out of 12 candidates during the 1992 elections. He garnered 1,152 votes with "hardly any campaigning at all," he said. But, this year might be a different story.

"This city needs leaders ... We need a change in leadership, so someone's going to have to run," said Kay, who suggested at one meeting that the council members resign. "Running is something I'm seriously looking into."

Dale Goodman, who with Luci Grismer co-founded a group to oppose the utility tax, believes voters might be given a choice of several candidates who will campaign against the tax.

"I haven't considered it yet, but I'm keeping a close eye on who's talking about it. I believe there are several that should run," said Goodman, a member of the city's Handicapped Advisory Committee.

"Howard Kay, Mike Stehley, Betty Mead, Jim Stoddard and Adrienne Edmondson would all be good candidates. I think Luci (Grismer) would be good, but she's committed to being a council watchdog."

COUNCIL: Potential candidates are lining up

FROM 6

Stehley, an accountant, came close to joining the council in 1992. With three spots on the council open, he came in fourth place with 3,385 votes. Stehley also was vocal during utility tax hearings last summer.

Stehley said he isn't sure if he will run again. However, he contends the timing is right for a political newcomer to get on the council.

Mead also ran in 1992 and has continued to remain active as a council watchdog since then. Mead, who served on the council briefly in the 1980s, garnered 3,056 for a seventh place showing in the last election.

> "One scenario is the two people elected to the council might fall in line with the way Maria Moreno votes and form a majority."
> Art Newton
> political consultant

Stoddard has never run for office in Placentia, but is no stranger to politics in town. He attends city meetings each month, and often speaks out against taxes and what he believes to be wasteful spending.

He said politics will probably not be in his feature. Instead, Stoddard plans on watching over the council from the audience.

Edmondson is a member of the Placentia Pride Council and ran for council in 1992. She finished ninth in the race with 2,346 votes.

The two incumbents — Eckenrode and Downey — have not announced their re-election. Downey said she is contemplating running for a third term with her family.

Eckenrode also is trying to capture the Democratic nomination in the 46th Congressional District. The seat is currently held by Robert Dornan, R-Garden Grove.

"Large manufacturers and retailers are upset with Custom Comfort Mattress Company in Fullerton for selling wholesale to the public and giving the customer too much information," says Mel Trudell, owner of Custom Comfort.
"Sales people and retailers are telling you things like 50% off, 70% below retail, we won't be undersold, guaranteed lowest prices, free, free, free. That's all the big guys want you to know," Mel says he wants to expose the real truth about the mattress industry and what you are really paying for. The real quality comes from within the mattress. The pretty fabrics are what they want you to see, and maybe they will tell you how many springs or coils are inside. Mel would like to invite the public to come see his factory and showroom and he'll inform the customer on what to look for in a quality mattress.
To say, "You get what you pay for" might be like throwing money out the window.

STUDENTS: Getting lesson in how government works

FROM 5

my time up."

This is the 19th year the city has operated the program as a way to get students interested in public service. The topics students discuss during the meeting are challenging.

Robert Beggs, a student who had the role of council member, opposed putting metal detectors on campus because he felt it would lead to discrimination. He scrutinized the idea, saying it would give administrators an opportunity to check people who "dress or look" differently.

"I don't think it would be fair, this just isn't going to work," Beggs said.

Mayor Norman Eckenrode praised students for a well thought-out performance. He said decisions are hard no matter who you are.

"These are very controversial issues that they get — it is controversial for us and the school board," said Eckenrode. "So it should be for them."

IN OUR OPINION

YOUTH

Parents need to stop teen drinking

Teen-age drinking isn't anything new.

We can remember back to our younger days when we snuck a beer or two with friends and the recriminations of our parents when we were caught.

But all the focus on the problems associated with teens who drink, it seems that the problem is a lot bigger than a couple of youngsters sneaking a beer in the back of the garage when their parents weren't looking.

That's why we applaud efforts currently being taken in Yorba Linda and Placentia and hope they serve as a model for other cities to follow.

In an effort to combat underage drinking, police plan to send letters to parents of teen-agers who throw parties where alcohol is served and department officials are considering sending letters to parents of those who attend such parties.

The practice already is occurring in Yorba Linda, which contracts for its police services with the Brea Police Department.

But that isn't where Placentia is stopping.

About 20 parents of students in the Placentia Yorba Linda Unified School District have launched a campaign against student drinking.

The group already has solicited pledges from 65 stores in Yorba Linda, Placentia and north Anaheim — the areas the district covers — saying they will check IDs of anyone buying alcohol who looks younger than 30.

The best thing about this campaign is that it was spearheaded by the parents.

Business owners, who could lose their licenses should they be found selling alcohol to minors, applaud the effort.

Their employees are posting signs and wearing buttons reminding customers that IDs will be checked of anyone who looks too young to be buying alcohol.

Rose Howard, a parent who leads the group, says parents must take an active role in combatting teen-age drinking because there's "only so much the police can do."

We agree.

Parents throughout north Orange County need to be at the forefront of this effort not only to make sure stores and young people obey the law, but to make sure that teen-agers learn to take responsibility for their actions.

All too often, parents leave such important tasks to the schools and other authority figures because of the difficulties they have in juggling their family obligations with their responsibility to make a comfortable living for their families.

But teaching teen-agers the perils of drinking irresponsibly is something that must be done at home.

If parents are informed their children are drinking at parties, they must take steps to keep that from happening in the future.

And, if stores continue to openly push their ID checks that, too, will help drive the message home.

But home is where the message must be heard — and it must be heard loud and clear.

Reekie Gate case quickly gets solved

Many have heard of Watergate, most have heard of White Water-gate, now there's Reekie Gate. The case of the missing dog (Reekie) who got out through, you guessed it, the fence gate.

Because Reekie (a white terrier-poodle) sometimes thinks he's a kid, I called all the neighborhood schools. Helpers in the search included the very sympathic and enthusiastic secretaries, Virginia at Kraemer Junior High, Susie at Ruby Drive Elementary, and the wonderful "I'll tell the custodians to be on the lookout" secretaries at Valencia High and Topaz Elementary.

Reekie was returned by the Animal Shelter (yes, there is a delivery charge), and you can bet the escape gate is fixed! Because Reekie had his license tags on his collar, the shelter was able to make a quick match and get him home extra quickly. Now, if some of the other "gates" in the news could be resolved as quickly!

Living Room Dialogs

People from various cultures get together to share experience, foster understanding and communication

By Sheri Halberg
North County News

In the comfort of a living room in Anaheim, they came to learn more about one another's backgrounds, cultures and experiences.

But by the end of the evening, the 12 people agreed that their similarities far outweighed their differences.

The project, dubbed Living Room Dialogs, brings together people from different cultures, who meet in living rooms across Orange County in an effort to foster better understanding and communication between ethnic groups.

The concept was developed as a joint project between Orange County Together and the Orange County Human Relations Commission.

"It's a vehicle for creating a movement that will help the county understand that our diversity offers opportunity," said Rusty Kennedy, Orange County Human Relations Commission executive director. "We don't want our diversity to tear us apart."

The project, which bagan in March, has quickly gained momentum. In addition to meeting in homes, the dialogues have been conducted at colleges and universities. By summer, they will expand to businesses and organizations countywide.

Orange County Together, an organization that develops programs such as Living Room Dialogs to further cross-cultural appreciation, was formed two years ago by community, religious and business leaders as a result of the Los Angeles riots.

The organization is a partnership between the Orange County Human Relations Commission and the United Way of Orange County.

"Each dialogue will form its own personality," said Pat Callahan, Orange County Together executive director. "They will be a small army of people who will be core groups for the community."

Each dialogue is overseen by a trained mediation facilitator who promotes conversation and equal participation among group members.

"We look for facilitators who are sensitive to cultural differences, have a cool head — and no personal agenda," Callahan said. "All people should be welcome to share their values."

Swinder Cooper, a counselor who served as facilitator for the Anaheim dialogue, designed questionnaires for members to answer and share concerning family history, traditions, self-knowledge and ethnic identity.

Jack Hancock North County News
Swinder Cooper leads a discussion among people of different races.

Cooper hopes the dialogues will provide a non-threatening arena for people to share culturally discriminating experiences without offending other group members.

"They hear that everyone has been discriminated against ... and it hurts," Cooper said. "We want to provide a safe place to ask questions and break down fears about sharing different beliefs."

The city of Anaheim is pitching the program to county religious leaders, who will apply its principles to high-risk youth groups in the community.

Leaders from different faiths are implementing the dialogues in an effort to stop youth violence, said Jim Walker, gang-drug project coordinator for the city of Anaheim.

"The program is the tip of a remarkable diamond for the community," Walker said. "People are people — all of us at one time or another were immigrants."

The United Nations also has adopted the program locally as part of its proclamation for 1994 as the International Year of the Family.

Suzanne Darweesh, committee secretary for the U.N. Association's Orange County chapter, hosted the Anaheim dialogue in her home. Darweesh observed that despite differences in culture, members shared common childhood experiences, family traditions and dreams.

"This is a real bonding experience," she said. "I'm thrilled about the people in this program, they want to understand other cultural positions."

After arriving in this country seven years ago from Puerto Rico, group member Mila Asperin cited democracy as her favorite aspect of this country. However, she said she fears it is not equally applied.

"I have seen Ph.D.s evaporate vocationally," said Asperin, a career counselor in Garden Grove. "They came to America to give their very best and are not always welcomed ... It's very disappointing."

Because of this "melting pot in Orange County," it is crucial for different cultures to work toward understanding, said Manuel Ontiveros, an Orange County Human Relations Commission member.

"There are stereotypes out there, but people need to respect each culture," Ontiveros said. "People are here to stay."

To enroll as Living Room Dialog hosts, facilitators or group members, contact Pat Callahan at Orange County Together, 252-1242.

Special visits: Betty Kolb had a special visit from her grandson and his wife along with Betty's great-grandson Josh. They stopped by to visit on their way from Guam to Alaska — a military transfer. Betty said the climate in Guam is so steamy and hot that no one goes out in the sun for fear of sunburns. Alaska? Probably won't have that worry up there!

Paul and Carolyn Cap have announced the arrival of their grandson, David Thomas Cap, son of Tom and Debi Cap in Port St. Lucie, Florida. David was born March 3, weighing in at 7 pounds and measuring 19 inches in length.

They're winners! The following students were named winners in Tuffree Middle School's 1994 Reflections program. The contest is sponsored by the National PTA to encourage expression of thoughts and feelings through the medium of art, music, phtography, and literature. This year's theme "If I Could Give the World a Gift."

Visual Arts' first, second and third place winners are: Sarah Oliver, Arshad Hug and Heather Emslie; honorable mention to Russell Matthews and Amy Weible. Literature's first, second and third place winners are: Noelani Turgeon, Kristyn Jenkins (her poem is below) and Erin Rapien. Honorable mention went to Galem Mecham. In Music, the first and second place winners were Stephanie Culler and Kelly Thompson.

My Gift to the World

If I could give the world a gift,
It would not be for this earth of ours,
And not for the sun, or the moon or the stars.
It would be for the people who live on this earth,
And destroy it because they do not know its worth.
People are who would use my gift.
With my gift would come so much more,
People would sing,
People would finally realize
What life is about.
It would be the key to open life's mysterious door.
My gift has a special design,
It's to make everyone laugh,
And everyone smile,
And everyone's cheerful,
For at least a while,
When they receive this gift of mine.
The gift I would give is not originally mine,
The idea came from long ago,
Before wind and rain, and sleet and snow.
It was decided to be a part of life,
To help overcome our grief and strife.
It was thought of as powerful, and yet divine.
People are happy in its presence,
They forget about war,
They forget about hate.
They start over as friends,
And clear the slate.
It's not something to touch or buy,

Moving up to the head of the class is Tersa Donch who was nominated to the College of Osteopathic Medicine of the Pacific's National Dean's List. She earned the nomination through academic excellence at the college and is included with students who are in the top 10 percent of their class. Congratulations!

With only 250 tickets to be sold, I figure the chances are pretty good at winning the $10,000 grand prize, or the $250 prize, or the $500 prize. All proceeds from this fund-raiser will benefit community service projects, according to Jerry Kern, Placentia Rotary president.

"Don't forget to tell everyone that dinner is included," Jerry said, "but purchasers of the drawing tickets not attending the dinner are invited and welcome to attend the 8:30 p.m. 'cash bash' drawing."

The drawing (and dinner) will be May 21. For information, give Jerry a call at 670-7307.

Spotted the "old gang" at a local eatery the other evening, planning who knows what but probably speculating about football. Enjoying the evening were Ed Sutton, Pat and Stan Shifflet, John Trevino sans Kathleen who gets a "pat on the back" for hitting the year mark of no smoking, Bill Dameron, Vicki and David Ritchie, John Cregg, Gary Wilcot and Bob Degrancourt. Missed seeing Wendy Bradley who was busy planning her business' big sale.

COOKING WITH THE BEST

Of gourmet guys, veggies and wine marinade

Annual cook-off benefits La Habra Children's Museum

Ladies . . . ladies . . . ladies . . . — mark your calendars for Sunday, May 15. The Gourmet Guys will raise bread and your temperatures when they compete for culinary honors in the annual cook-off benefiting the Children's Museum at La Habra.

The event will be held from 1 to 4 p.m. at Chevron Regional Headquarters, 1300 S. Beach Blvd., La Habra.

City officials, police and fire chiefs, athletes, corporate executives and community leaders will prepare recipes that earned them the title "Gourmet Guy" among their friends and co-workers. You will have an opportunity to stroll past brightly decorated tables and nibble any delicacy that takes your fancy and also sample some fine wines along the way.

Don't forget, this promises to be a great afternoon. Who can resist all that gourmet food cooked by 120 men.

All proceeds benefit the Children's Museum, celebrating its 16th anniversary. Last year, more than 200,000 children and their families, including our family, visited the museum. Tickets are now on sale. Call Marcia Giesler at (310) 905-9635.

KARMEN NICHOLAS

Don't let your healthy eating intentions go astray when cooking faces you at the end of a busy day. Eating enough veggies is vital to a better health, so, it's smart to include them at dinnertime even when you're short on time.

When you can't fix fresh, your supermarket freezer case is a storehouse of nutritious and good tasting veggies that cook in just a few quick minutes. You can prepare vegetables more traditionally by placing them in a small amount of boiling water.

I have included some tasty dishes that will prove there's never too little time to prepare and enjoy your vegetables.

LEMON-BROCCOLI SALAD

Cook frozen broccoli spears as directed, then cool overnight in the refrigerator. Toss with lemon juice, a touch of olive oil, garlic and a little salt for a delightfully tangy salad.

EASY SPINACH ROLL-UPS

Thaw and drain frozen spinach. Squeeze out excess water, then mix with non-fat cottage cheese, 2 egg whites and a small amount of Parmesan cheese. Spread mixture over cooked lasagna noodles, roll lengthwise, and place end side down in a baking dish. cover with spaghetti sauce and sprinkle with low-fat mozzarella cheese. Bake at 350 degrees F for about 30 minutes, or until cheese is melted and sauce bubbles.

SESAME CAULIFLOWER

Cook frozen cauliflower as directed. Just before serving, toss with toasted sesame seeds, soy sauce and a few drops of sesame oil.

CURRIED VEGETABLE

Add cooked frozen green peas and chopped carrots, garlic, pepper and curry seasoning to cooked brown rice for a high fiber treat. If creamy texture is desired, add non-fat sour cream or yogurt.

COOK's NOTE:

I have found that taste and texture decline considerably if frozen vegetables languish in the freezer much longer than two or three months. My research shows that the best storage temperatures is 0 degrees F. Avoid thawing and refreezing, as this will significantly affect quality. Don't forget: opened packages should be tightly resealed to avoid freezer burn.

Wine does wonders for all kinds of cooking. Any wine you like to drink can be used to add flavor to many dishes. Every time I open a bottle of wine I take a glass to the kitchen. There's always something that will be better for it.

Chicken responds to both red or white wines and also fortified wines like sherry, brandy, madeira and port. A little wine added to beef, lamb or pork stews and casseroles, makes a difference. If the dish takes a long time to cook you can simply add more wine and let it reduce with long, slow cooking.

The French often marinade meat. A simple marinade is made with red wine and water, half and half, with garlic, onion slices, salt and pepper, coriander and a few spoons of olive oil.

Meat marinaded in this kind of mixture for several hours is vastly improved whether you are using the meat for grilling, a barbecue or a casserole. You don't need a large amount of marinade, just keep turning the meat over from time to time. Do the same for poultry, using white wine.

One of the best and most delicious poaching liquids for fish is half white wine and half water, flavored with onion, bay leaf and peppercorns. Many soups taste beter with a small dash of sherry or madeira, but its very important not to add too much. A couple of tablespoons is enough for a soup for four people.

Someone asked me what is the best wine to drink? I believe that the best wine is the one you like the best — as long as you know why.

LEMON BAKED CHICKEN BREASTS

1 tablespoon unsalted butter
1 tablespoon light olive oil
2 whole chicken breasts, halved
1 cup dry white wine
1 teaspoon fresh thyme, chopped
Salt and freshly ground pepper
2 tablespoons lemon juice

In a large, heavy, frying pan, heat the butter and oil over moderately high heat. Add the chicken, skin side down and fry until golden on both sides. Transfer the chicken as it is browned to a baking dish.

Add the wine and thyme to the pan, bring the liquid to the boil, scraping up the crusty bits, and pour the pan juices over the chicken. Season, sprinkle with lemon juice and bake in a preheated hot oven 375 degrees F for about 30 minutes or until tender.

Offer a green salad to your crew and lots of crusty bread to mop up the juices.

Karmen's tip of the week:

Presentation is particularly important when serving appetizers. The mind must feast while the stomach yet waits. Attention to detail is the key, my grandmother always said, and I haven't forgotten, that "Cooking without garnishes, no matter how simple, is like dressing in polka dots and stripes."

Deferred pensions are catching on

By Rick Felling
Certified Public Accountant

SARSEP monies have the added benefit of tax deferred savings, meaning that there's no current tax on the earnings credited each year.

Why can't there be a small business solution to retirement plans?

There is. It's called the Salary Deferral Simplified Employee Pension, or SARSEP. Previously often overlooked and under-appreciated, SARSEPs are beginning to catch on with small business owners, addressing many of their concerns.

Despite its long name, the SARSEP is short on paperwork and low on administrative costs. Indeed, a SARSEP can be funded primarily by employees with little, if any, start-up charges.

Employees simply defer part of their salaries into IRAs set up by the employer. But unlike a regular IRA with tax deducible contributions limited to $2,000 a year, SARSEPs allow employees to defer as much as 15 percent of gross salary up to $9,240 a year in 1994.

SARSEPs are limited to companies with 25 or fewer employees, 50 percent of whom must participate. But if the company grows beyond the 25-employee limit, the SARSEP accounts can continue to grow on a tax deferred basis until retirement, and another type of plan can be established.

Minimal compliance paperwork consists of two simple tests which are performed at least annually — nothing like the reporting and disclosure requirements associated with other qualified plans. These tests were created by the IRS to ensure that plans do not discriminate against lower paid employees.

If the employer does not pass one, some contributions of highly compensated employees will have to be refunded. If the employer does not pass the other, he will have to make a minor contribution of no more than 3 percent to each non-key employee.

These simple tests can be done with the help of a financial professional who can also make the arrangements to set up a SARSEP, including the selection of investment options.

Employees reduce current income taxes, since pre-tax SARSEP contributions reduce the amount of their taxable income. And, SARSEP monies have the added benefit of tax deferred savings, meaning that there's no current tax on the earnings credited each year.

The business still deducts the full salary amounts as an expense. As a result, the SARSEP can be a real plus to the benefits package without being a minus to the bottom line.

Personal trusts can benefit young, old

Surprising to many Californians is the fact that personal trusts are not designed only for older and wealthy individuals, but offer benefits for younger people and less affluent individuals, too.

Personal trusts:

- Help you prepare for the future.
- Can help you save and increase your wealth.
- Can be changed to reflect current requirements.
- Allow access to all of a bank's services.

First Interstate Bank's Trust and Private Banking Group offers this perspective.

Creating a trust allows you to prepare for the future. In forming a trust, you transfer ownership of property, such as bonds, stocks and real estate to the trust itself. You then provide your financial institution with instructions on investing your assets to provide for you and your beneficiaries. The bank will follow your directions and design an investment plan to meet your financial and personal goals.

Your trust will be monitored daily and you will receive ongoing advice from the bank's trust management professionals, which is not available with financial services such as money market funds and stock and bond mutual funds.

Personal trusts can be used for many purposes. You can use a trust to build or increase your wealth. Personal trusts can help you save for the future by steadily increasing principal assets or provide you with a desired level of income. Trusts also can be designed to maintain the value of existing assets.

Younger, less affluent people can benefit from the services offered by a personal trust. The First Investors Trust, for example, was created for individuals who have between $100,000 and $500,000 in assets, which is lower than for traditional trust accounts. This allows you to begin investing and planning for the future at a younger age.

Personal trusts provide a number of convenient services. You can receive the monthly income from a trust, and trusts generally allow you access to all of the bank's services. Assets held in a trust are not subject to probate, which is the lengthy and expensive legal process by which your property is transferred to your spouse and children after your death. By eliminating this process, trusts reduce the emotional and financial burden on your beneficiaries.

There are eight for your hiking enjoyment at Oak Canyon Center

By Shraddha Swaroop
North County News

The sun swelters in the sky as the shrubs, flowers and trees isolate you from the rest of the hikers as well as the animals, insects and reptiles that inhabit the canyon next to the Oak Canyon Nature Center.

Oak Canyon has six miles of hiking trails along Walnut Creek in Anaheim, the main body of water to flow into the Santa Ana River.

The park has a wide range of topography, which includes gentle slopes to the steeper bluffs of Road Runner Ridge Trail.

The canyon is located beyond the Anaheim Hills Public Golf Course off Nohl Ranch Road.

"The canyon is very popular with those who know about it," said Lynn Miles, lead naturalist at Oak Canyon. She added that since the park is so secluded it goes unnoticed by many longtime residents even though the park has been around close to 10 years.

Oak Canyon Nature Center in Anaheim Hills offers eight trails of various distances. The center is beyond the Anaheim Hills Public Golf Course off Nohl Ranch Road.

Sam Gangwer
North County News

"We'd like it be more popular, but it's a bit of a blessing to have a low-impact clientele," Miles said.

The nature center has eight trails, the longest being seven-tenths of a mile. The shortest trail is one-tenth of a mile.

With the small number of tourists that the park attracts, those that are there can view the various different ecosystems, the plant life and the wildlife.

The park is the home of many different types of plant life, including coastal sage scrub, coast live oaks, California sycamores, Black walnut, black alder and some poision oak.

The 68-acre park is home to such wildflowers as chia, lupine, bush sunflower, mustard flower, yarrow, sticky monkey flower, elderberry flower, black sage, fuscia, flowered gooseberries, flannel bush, the California poppy, morning glory, buckwheat, sugar bush, lemonade berry, canterbury-bells and the prickly pear cactus flower.

The canyon is also a prime bird-watching venue. It attracts 130 species, including loons, grebes, cormorants, pelicans, herons, egrets, waterfowl, rails, coots, shorebirds, gulls, terns, doves, pigeons, owls, roadrunners, woodpeckers, larks, swallows, jays, crows, creepers, starlings, finches and sparrows.

Hikers could also see racoons, skunks and ground squirrels, but it is doubtful they will come across coyotes, bobcats and mountain lions.

There are self-guided plaques along the center's trails that will help visitors become familiar with the plants and animals.

Smoking, pets, alcoholic beverages, picknicking, bicycles, collecting and firearms are not permitted.

The nature center closes at 5 p.m. For more information, call (714) 998-8380.

MOVIE REVIEW

'Backbeat' recaptures Beatles and the '60s

By Larry Katz
For the North County News

She loves you, Yeah, Yeah, Yeah. The new movie "Backbeat" takes you back to the magic of the Beatles, before they hit it big.

The film watches the Beatles, who spent some of their early days in Hamburg, Germany, fine tuning their skills.

The members were of course, John Lennon, Paul McCartney, George Harrison Pete Best (later replaced by Ringo Starr) and John's best friend, Stu Sutcliffe.

Sutcliffe was immensely talented musically, but even more so as an artist. Eventually his love of art overcame his passion for music, when he fell in love with a German girl, Astrid.

These factors forced him to quit the band before Beatlemania, and before his eventual, untimely death. "Backbeat" is moving, electrifying and engrossing. The acting is very convincing, and the players and the situations look so real that you feel as if it's the '60s all over again.

Stephen Dorf as Stu and Sheryl Lee as Astrid are wonderful. Add in the Beatles' music with re-created chronology and the result is one of '94's 10 best.

CURTAIN CALL

Fury and fire galore in latest 'Macbeth'

CSUF production displays all the right emotions

By Peggy O'Hara
For the North County News

Terrifying and malevolent but magnificently directed and performed, "Macbeth" on stage at California State University, Fullerton, makes Shakespeare's Scottish play the portrayal of evil with all the emotion, fury and fire that the master himself must have intended.

Witches Paris Bradstreet, Erin Saporito and Karen Wight are horrifying as Satan's whores, loathsome as murderers, more hatefully impassioned with every reappearance. They haunt the stage and are relentless as they catapult Macbeth and his Lady into their electrifying evil and murders. Those supernatural, creepy creatures are the power and the core that makes this "Macbeth" a mesermerizing spectacle.

Not to minimize this emotional and physical energy of Jeff Swarthout's Macbeth, nor the hot-blooded blaze of Eve Himmelheber's Lady MacBeth. They are both splendid. Their animal magnetism and madness never wavers.

It's a scary show!

Director James R. Taulli, who gave such warmth, understanding, and love to the original production of "All That He Was," proves himself to be a talented artist in his guidance of "Macbeth."

An outstanding cast supports the exceptional leads. Powerful reinforcement from Eric Bishop's stalwart Macduff, Paul Pederson's foreboding Banquo and Edward Schultz's doomed Duncan. Included in the fine cast are Gregory Beirne (Malcolm), Randall Shorts (Donalbain), Brad Symons (Rosse), Jason Powell (Cathness), Deborah Chicurel-Canow (fine as Lady McDuff, but too easily recognizable as Doctor), Bill Ferguson (Seyton) and Kirsten Vangsness (Gentlewoman). More than a dozen other fine young actors become authentic soldiers and attendants.

Fight direction by John Robert Beardsley is alarming, intimidating in its fury and energy.

The towering set designed by Todd Muffatti is effectively lighted by Dan Volonte, assisted by Matt Schleicher. Volonte also deserves applause for the haunting audio effects. Gaye Willson-Berger's talent as charge scenic artist had assistance by Sachiko Nakao. Make-up and hair designer Natalie May Carter, sound designer John Fisher, costume manager Pam Bradley and a slew of constructors and maintenance crew contribute greatly to the visual aspects. Dozens of other members of staff and crew are a part of this accomplished production.

"Macbeth" continues at the Cal State Fullerton theater department through May 1. Call 773-3371 for reservations.

Even if Shakespeare is not your cup of tea, this is a show to see. But if you prefer a lighter mode, make reservations for the musical "Quilters," which opens May 13.

Let's keep the fun in prep tennis

Sitting back in my plush seat Saturday night, I marveled at Jimmy Connors, John McEnroe, Bjorn Borg and Mats Wilander playing tennis at nearly the highest level you can.

It was a great show.

Connors worked the crowd well, cracking off one-liners like, "For $195," he said pointing at his racquet, "you can make shots like that."

McEnroe put on his usual display of bad behavior. He was warned by the chair umpire once in each of his three sets for various infractions, which included yelling at line judges and hitting balls up into the crowd in anger.

And even Borg and Wilander were visibly having fun on the court. Wilander even would talk to himself at times.

Most of the crowd of approximately 6,000 spectators — out of more than the original 9,200 (paid attendance) — who stayed past midnight to see all six of the sets being played, got their money's worth.

Seeing all these former superstars on the court having fun made me wonder why these guys were showing more emotion than the best high school players.

Sure, these famous players Saturday were paid a pretty good amount of money just to be there. But with a $10,000-per-set-won incentive — each player played three sets — one would think that they would be focused more on the game at hand.

The main thing players had on their mind though was to put on a good show. Mix in great shots with a little bit of individual pizazz, something that a lot of today's up-and-coming players are missing.

Most of today's players play the same game — power. Hit the ball hard and down the line. Get on the court and get off as soon as possible. Some sets take less than 15 minutes.

Of course there are many reasons high school players play that

Esperanza-El Dorado matchup to end as Aztecs ride off into Sunset League

By Lance Pugmire
North County News

What makes the Esperanza-El Dorado high school baseball rivalry so compelling is that it never forgets to remind you of its presence.

Tonight at 7 at California State University, Fullerton, El Dorado senior left-hander Benito Flores takes the mound against Esperanza senior right-hander Scott Hild.

This will be the schools' final Empire League meeting because Esperanza was releagued into the Sunset League.

"The league where we're going will be intense because of the games' importance to the standings," Esperanza coach Mike Curran said. "The thing about El Dorado-Esperanza was: Who cared about the standings?

"What that rivalry ending means is that we're no longer going to have a league where our kids will see one of their kids at the store, on the streets, at the movie theater. None of our kids will have played Little League with those kids. It's really a shame. This should've been kept in mind when they were releaguing."

"I'm really sad we're not going to be playing anymore," El Dorado coach Steve Gullotti said. "These games are intense and usually close and there's a lot of people watching. Most of the times, these games mean something. It's fun to be part of it."

Curran and Gullotti, former baseball teammates at Rio Hondo College, are friends who both began their present tenures in 1981. They'll often meet after games, except their own, to discuss the happenings.

"They even look alike," El Dorado outfielder Ryan Reyes said.

Gullotti's list of alumni includes Cincinnati Reds second baseman Bret Boone and Angels No. 1 draft pick Pete Janicki. Curran's crop includes pros Jason Bates, Doug Saunders and Mike Simms. It so happened in 1992 that El Dorado graduate Phil Nevin and Esperanza's Jason Moler ended their high school animosities, built a friendship and led Cal State Fullerton to the NCAA College World Series championship game before earning spots on the 1992 U.S. Olympic team.

Here are some of the rivalry's highlights:

In 1986, Esperanza won a mythical national championship and a CIF Southern Section title, but in the best game of that year El Dorado beat Esperanza, 2-1.

Esperanza pitcher Steve Halweg set school records with 15 victories and an 0.98 ERA that season. Halweg "pitched the game of his life,"

PREP NOTES

Valencia baseball rebounds for the start of the final round

Despite 0-5 start, Tigers began week a game out of first

By Bill Norris
North County News

Friday's matchup between Brea Olinda and Valencia will mark start of the last round of games in Orange League baseball play.

Valencia started the week one game behind the Wildcats for first place in the Orange League. The Tigers faced Western Wednesday.

Although the team is not at the top of the standings, coach Mike Scheetz is proud of the progress the team has made since jumping out to an 0-5 start.

"The kids have worked hard through the tough times," he said. "I have to give the kids credit, because they could have folded up their tents when we started 0-5."

Valencia senior Rob Petko left the baseball team recently to concentrate on continuing his football career according to Scheetz.

"I think he was a little mixed up with what sport he wants to play," Scheetz said. "He decided that he wanted to concentrate full time on football and I don't have a problem with that. We parted on good terms."

Petko finished his season hitting around .300 for the Tigers.

Today marks the beginning of the second half of action in softball as well for the Orange League.

For Valencia, while the 1-3 league mark might be considered disappointing, coach Bob Routledge says that it is a little misleading, considering the team is loaded with freshmen.

"We're not actually being blown out in games," he said. "I think we're still in the hunt in league even with a 1-3 record."

Besides building success at the varsity level, Routledge has been trying to build success within the program as a whole.

One of the things Routledge has planned to help build the success is to add a third team — frosh/soph — for softball next year.

The Orange League will hold its league preliminaries next Tuesday at Brea Olinda High.

For Valencia's boys team, the team's most consistent performer has been jumper Phil Franklin. The senior participates in the 200 meters, the 4x400 relay and the long and triple jumps for the Tigers. According to coach Jason Gray, Franklin is inching up on the school record in the triple jump, and might reach it before the season is over.

While the track athletes will be running at Brea Olinda Tuesday, the Orange League swimmers will be at Magnolia holding their prelims.

The league finals will be held next Thursday.

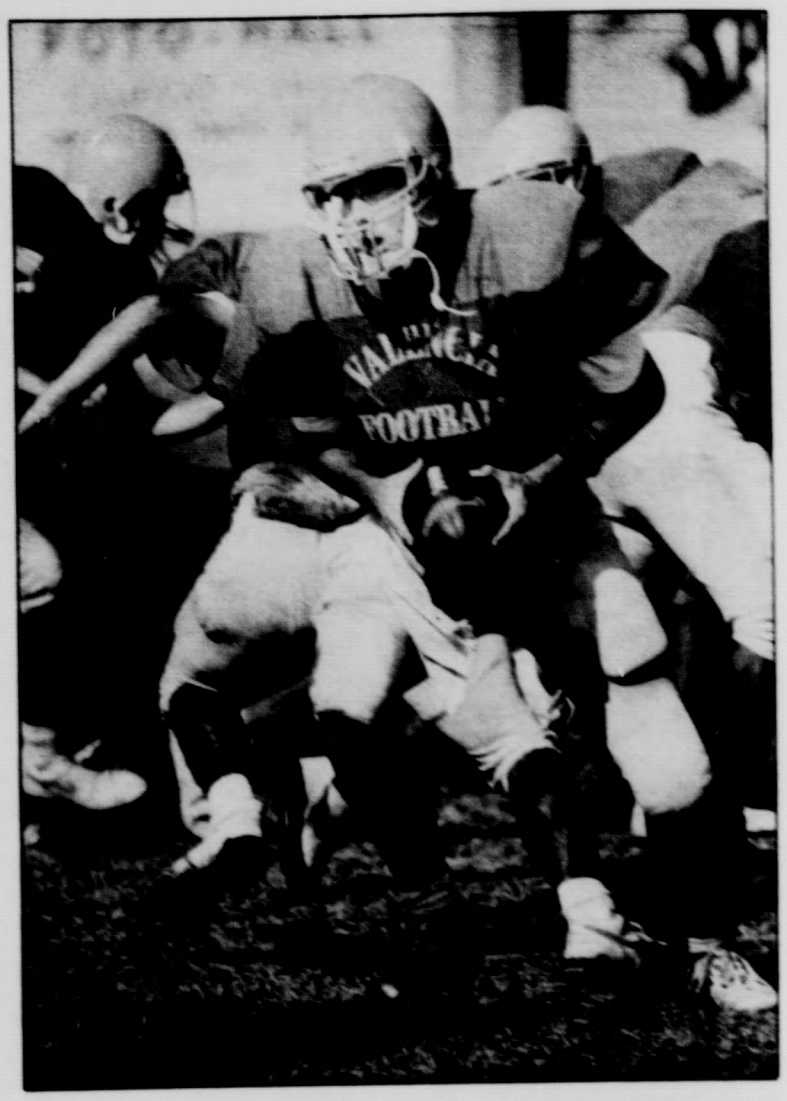
If you weren't paying attention at last Friday's volleyball match between Valencia and Western, you might have gotten confused.

Both teams uniforms consisted of white tops and blue shorts. The only noticeable difference with the shirts was that Valencia's players had their names on the backs.

While the teams had the same uniform style, it didn't matter much on the court as Valencia swept the Pioneers in three games.



Jack Hancock North County News

Valencia senior Rob Petko has left the baseball team to concentrate on his quarterbacking skills on the football field.

according to Curran, and kept El Dorado scoreless into the sixth inning, but his third strike on a two-out pitch evaded catcher Eric Cox and the runner reached first safely.

El Dorado's Doug Sipple then hit a mammoth two-run home run that landed on Brookhaven Avenue behind El Dorado. Pitcher Scott Holcomb retired Esperanza in order for the victory.

In 1987, Esperanza clung to a one-run lead with ace Roger Weems pitching. El Dorado had a runner at first and a hit-and-run play was ordered. Aztecs second baseman Doug Saunders broke to cover second, found a line drive in his glove and turned the game-winning double play.

In 1992, Golden Hawks pitcher Shawn Holcomb, a future Angels draft pick, was one strike away from a no-hitter against Esperanza. Guess what? Aztec Bobby Ponce broke up the no-hit bid.

In 1993, Esperanza dominated en route to Empire League and CIF-SS Division I championships, but wasn't able to produce a 15-0 league record because a loss to El Dorado made the Aztecs 14-1.

In 1994, El Dorado, favored to win the league title, started 2-0. Esperanza, decimated by graduation, began 0-2. The final score on March 24: Esperanza 3, El Dorado 2.

"The key thing about the rivalry is that I don't think there's been a time, more than one year, when one team has dominated the other," Curran said.

This year's players couldn't wait for this week's pair of games to begin.

"There's no one around here with a tradition like us," said Jeff Moore, El Dorado's senior first baseman. "It's because of our teams and players. There's never been a team here that's given up."

Esperanza catcher and 1993 Orange County batting champion Jason Murrietta disagreed: "Did they say that? Not to take anything away from El Dorado, but when people think of baseball in this area, they think of Esperanza."

"They're arrogant and cocky," Reyes said of the Aztecs.

"We don't go out of our way to get their attention," said Moore, "but you can tell when someone's looking at you."

"We're the blue collar guys and they're the white collars," El Dorado catcher Spencer Frost added.

"You don't like people saying things like that about you," Murrietta said. "We're not the spoiled, little rich kids. We're a scrappy team. It's hard to see that by driving around Yorba Linda, but we're just the opposite of what people think we are."

"El Dorado's a good team and it's fun to play a team like that, but there's always been a little bit of hate," admitted Esperanza infielder Jason Webb, younger brother of former Aztec Kevin Webb. "Saying El Dorado always riles you up. There's a lot of talking going on in the game and that brings a lot of tension into it."

This week began with El Dorado (14-6, 6-3) trailing first-place Katella by one game with Esperanza (10-9, 5-4) tied with Loara for third.

"I'm going to take it personal," Flores said of his Thursday start. "Another rivalry like this won't be there anymore. Nothing will take its place. No way. You always look forward to it. You see those guys driving down the street with their hats on, popping off at you. With this being the last game, I want to end it on the note that we're the best."

"It's special to be part of this last Esperanza-El Dorado game," Murrietta said. "We want it to go out the way it should, with Esperanza taking El Dorado."

There's uncertainty about what will happen to the rivalry. Curran said El Dorado can't be fitted into next year's non-league schedule. There's a chance the teams could meet in the Upper Deck Classic. There's a chance that creation of a new Orange County section of CIF will result in the schools being re-leagued back together.

"I don't think one game every four years will fuel a rivalry," Gullotti said. "It's dead."

way. They don't have the luxury of line judges or lighted courts to play matches with, leaving the responsibility of getting the match done in a quick and fair manner to themselves.

But at what price? The loss of emotion. The loss of fun.

Look what happened to one of those up-and-comers, Jennifer Capriati. She was playing professional tennis before she could drive. But now, instead of preparing for the upcoming French Open tennis tournament, she's preparing for her high school graduation while recovering from a case of career burnout.

Now no one is suggesting that these players do anything drastically different. Just a little bit here and there is a nice distraction. Maybe a pump of a fist after a difficult shot. Or an all-out performance for that nearly impossible shot.

Maybe then, they will be a little bit more interest in the exciting players of tomorrow, rather than the players of yesterday.

Times, they are a changin' in high school sports.

By the fall of 1995, when we talk about CIF championships, it'll be the CIF Orange County Championship and not the Southern Section.

And by then, we may be telling the stories of the great athlete from Anaheim that just helped Valencia to yet another Orange League football championship when open enrollment is in place.

Both of these are pretty much done deals, but how they are going affect the high school sporting world is still kind of fuzzy.

What's your opinion on these issues? Will the Orange County Section be a huge success, or a small failure? Will open enrollment, even in limited situations, give certain schools an advantage when it comes to sports?

Let me know. Call me at the number below and tell me your opinion on these issues. Or leave your opinion on my voice mail before Monday. I want to know what your opinion is, and will put some of your results, along with my opinion on the issues, into my column next week.

Astros gun down Yankees to open second half action

By E.J. Campbell
North County News

The second half of the season is off and running in the West Placentia Little League.

The Double A Astros got off to a good start with a 10-5 victory over the Yankees. Both teams played solid defense with the play of the game coming from Astros catcher Mike Basquez when he threw out a Yankee runner trying to steal second.

In the Majors Division, the White Sox got a great game from Andy Nance on the mound, striking out seven Marlin batters. The Sox took the lead after scoring eight runs in the fifth inning. The Marlins struggled back and scored three more runs giving them a 9-8 win against the Sox.

The Sox hitters came alive with 14 hits in their next game to help defeat the Cubs 13-7. With great pitching and four hits, Matt Lew sparked the Sox to victory.

The Phillies had to come from behind in their game against the Giants but with solid defense and hitting they were able to come away with an 8-7 victory.

NOVENA TO ST. JUDE
Oh, Holy St. Jude, Apostle and Martyr, great in virtue, rich in miracles, near Kinsman of Jesus Christ and faithful intercessor of all who invoke your special patronage in time of need. To you I have recourse from the depth of my heart and humbly beg to whom God has given special great power to come to my assistance in my present and urgent petition. In return I promise to make your name known and cause to be invoked. (Say 3 Our Fathers, 3 Hail Marys and 3 Glorys for 9 consecutive days. Publication must be promised.) St. Jude pray for us all who invoke your aid. C.H.B.

Lawn care revolution has its costs

Patrick Veling's
PROPERTY LINES

I have hybrid bermuda in my fescue. I had noticed it last year and chose to ignore it. But I noticed it again last week and it seems to be taking over.

I walked into the kitchen on Saturday to have a cold drink and to take a break from trimming the trees. I had mowed the lawn earlier. It had only taken about 45 minutes.

"Done with the lawn already," my wife asked.

"Yeah," I told her. "But it's not good. We have bermuda in our fescue. If I don't do something soon, we'll have a bermuda lawn."

Back outside trimming trees, I thought about our fescue and the bermuda that was encroaching from our next door neighbor's yard. It was then I realized how lawn care has changed over the years.

When I was growing up in the '60s, my dad couldn't have told you what type of grass seed was in our lawn. As long as it was green and held up to the rigors of six kids, that was all that mattered.

And fertilizers? Back then, cow manure was it. You knew when your neighbor had fertilized his lawn — for weeks. Now there are fancy weed and feed mixes.

When I was a child, we had a sure fire method for eliminating weeds in our lawn. It was my mom. She would sit in the yard for hours, pulling dandelions and crab grass, waiting for the neighbors to walk by and chat.

The new weed and feed products are easier and possibly one of the reasons neighbors don't speak as much as they used to.

And what an evolution in lawn care tools. In the '60s, most lawn mowers were human-powered. I have a rotary mulching mower with solid state ignition. My father-in-law still uses his old push mower and swears there's no reason to change. In his 60s, he is in far better shape than I am.

Remember the old hand-held edger that you rolled along the edge of the walk? It not only edged the grass, it removed an inch or so of sod. Now there are power edgers and line trimmers.

What I would have done for a line trimmer when I was growing up. Trimming along the backyard fence with hand shears was the job my brother and I hated the most. It took hours in the hot summer sun.

"It'll be good for you," my dad used to tell us. Now I whip through edging my lawn in about five minutes. It probably looks as good as the job I used to do with the hand shears, but I don't have the pride in it that I used to. I don't have the sun tan that I used to, either. My dad was right. (How I hate to write that.)

The push broom got the most use at our house in those days. Every walk was swept after the lawn was mowed and edged. Dust pans were kept very busy on weekends.

The cleanup at our house is now done with my high-intensity (and high-noise) blower. I don't know when I have last used a dust pan outside. All I need is my 100-foot extension cord, my blower and about three minutes.

Of course the result isn't the same. Nothing is cleaned up, it's just kind of moved. Stuff gets blown from where we don't want to have it seen to where we choose to never look. My wife swears it all gets blown into the house. She says she has to dust more today than when she was growing up.

When I was a kid, I remember metal trash barrels being so full of grass clippings that we couldn't carry them. We had to tip them on their edges and roll them from place to place. Now the grass and leaves go into plastic bags we buy new to throw away. I'm still confused by that one.

When I had completed trimming the trees and had reminisced on boyhood lawn care experiences that I couldn't appreciate then, I sat in the shade of our olive tree, cold beer in hand, and began to weed out the bermuda from our fescue.

Moments later, the solution to my problem came to me. I ran into the house, called my mother, and invited her to join me on our lawn.

Retail market shows signs of life

The Orange County retail market showed signs of improvement in the first quarter of 1994, posting positive absorption for the quarter, as well as continued low vacancies, according to a report released by Grubb & Ellis Commercial Real Estate Services. Grubb & Ellis tracks shopping centers 50,000 square feet and larger.

Retail net absorption totaled 49,402 square feet for the first quarter of 1994, a distinct improvement from last year's first quarter total of negative 339,478 square feet, as well as last quarter's total of negative 52,653 square feet.

The vacancy rate for the first quarter in Orange County shopping centers was 6.2 percent, down from 6.3 percent the previous quarter, and up slightly from the 6.1 percent posted a year ago.

"Retailers are getting more optimistic as they see sales continue to pick up," said Greg Mickelson, retail properties expert with Grubb & Ellis Commercial Real Estate Services' Newport Beach office. "We should see continued positive absorption over the next few quarters."

Discount retailers continue to be active throughout the county. Kmart has new stores under construction in Aliso Viejo and Anaheim Hills. Wal-Mart and CompUSA will be part of the newly redeveloped Anaheim Plaza. The new Mission Viejo Freeway Center will feature Toys-R-Us, Linens 'N' Things, Borders Books, Best Buy Electronics, and CompUSA. Mervyns, Vons and Wal-Mart will be part of The Marketplace at Laguna Niguel.

INSIDE REAL ESTATE

NEWS, NOTES AND FACTS FROM THE REAL ESTATE INDUSTRY

Eliminate anxiety

There's often a lot of anxiety about buying and financing the purchase of a home. Since a home is the single biggest purchase most of us will make in our lives, it's no wonder.

One way to take some of the worry out of the home buying process is to get prequalified for a home loan. By going through this process, you'll have an edge in terms of knowing exactly how much home you can afford.

You can get prequalified by a variety of lending sources (e.g. banks, savings and loan institutions, mortgage bankers, mortgage brokers), home loan counseling centers and other non-profit groups.

Loan prequalification usually is provided free as a service to potential home buyers. Each lender has different loan programs and may have slightly different underwriting guidelines.

Fixer-upper loans

If you want to buy a fixer-upper, look into the Fannie Home Style loan program or the FHA's 203(k) program. Both provide loans for the purchase and rehabilitation of a home.

The Fannie Mae program funds loans up to the conforming loan limit of $203,150, with a loan-to-renovated-value ratio of 90 percent. Two month's cash reserves are required. The FHA funds loans up to its maximum loan limit of $151,725 with a maximum loan-to-value ratio of approximately 95 percent of the renovated value.

Realizing a dream

There is a much greater supply of higher-priced homes (approximately $500,000 and up for the state as a whole) listed for sale than there is of lower-priced ones. The prices at the high end are being held down by an excess of supply. For the trade-up buyer, this represents a terrific opportunity to realize a dream.

Three distinct residential collections capture the style of The Highlands, The Presley Companies' new view-oriented hilltop community in Anaheim Hills. The Canyon Ridge neighborhood is shown here.

Highlands in Anaheim Hills is view-oriented community

With its hilltop setting and its master-planned design, The Highlands offers a view-oriented community in Anaheim Hills.

And with The Presley Companies offering limited-time savings of up to $16,000 on a selection of homes, ranging from attached villas to executive residences, this community represents an opportunity to move up in both elegance and elevation.

The views, which stretch from nearby canyons to the city lights below and mountains in the distance, are just the beginning of the community advantages at The Highlands.

"At The Highlands, homeowners don't have to wait for the community to grow up around them," said Matthew Hall, Presley's director of marketing. "It's already there, it's mature, and every conceivable necessity is only minutes away."

For home seekers, the selection begins with the one- and two-story attached residences of Viewpointe North, a gated neighborhood that has consistently fulfilled the needs of young couples, single professionals and other value-minded buyers.

Priced from $139,990, two- and three-bedroom arrangements encompass richly appointed living areas as large as approximately 1,611 square feet, and a private recreation area with swimming pool, spa and sun deck is the perfect complement to residents' carefree lifestyles.

At Canyon Ridge, detached-home privacy and comfort is attainable in two distinctive residential collections. Starting at $199,990, Canyon Ridge's Sunset Series showcases contemporary architectural flair in one- and two-story floor plans with up to three bedrooms and approximately 1,344 to 1,772 square feet of living area.

An added dimension of spaciousness and drama distinguishes the three-to-five-bedroom residences of the Skyline Series, where elegant one- and two-story interiors spanning approximately 1,933 to 2,785 square feet are enhanced by coffered ceilings, oval whirlpool tubs and General Electric appliances. Prices begin at $294,000.

DIRECTIONS

Exit the Riverside Freeway (91) at Weir Canyon and drive south. Turn right on Serrano Avenue and follow the signs to the individual

For discriminating buyers seeking luxury and grandeur, the gated neighborhood of Presley at Belsomet presents a collection of grand-scale residences. These executive homes with up to five bedrooms abound with custom detailing throughout living areas measuring up to approximately 3,743 square feet. Prices range from the high $300,000s, and in addition, custom Belsomet homesites are available from $185,000.

Viewpointe North, Canyon Ridge and Presley at Belsomet will soon be joined by Monaco, another neighborhood. Models are scheduled to open in August. These attached-home designs will be priced from under $100,000. Call (800) 5-MONACO for more information on this exciting neighborhood and to place your name on the interest list.

To visit The Highlands, exit the Riverside Freeway (91) at Weir Canyon and drive south. Turn right on Serrano Avenue and follow the signs to the individual neighborhoods. Furnished models by Carole Eichen Interiors Inc. are open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily. Additional information is available by calling sales representatives at Viewpointe North at (714) 281-1098, Canyon Ridge at (714) 281-4603 or Presley at Belsomet at (714) 974-9848.

Home sellers get special tax treatment

When you sell your home and realize a profit, that profit may receive special tax treatment. You automatically can defer paying taxes on the gain from the sale of your home by purchasing or building another home of equal or greater value.

To qualify, you simply need to purchase your new home within two years before or after the sale of your current home. Additionally, if you're 55-years-old or older, and have owned and used your residence for three out of five years preceding the sale, you can exclude from taxable income up to $135,000 of your profit from the sale of your principle residence. This is a once-in-a-lifetime tax benefit.

Find your dream home here

By R. Cozi Martinetto
For the North County News

It is said, a person's home is his castle. Are you looking for your castle?

Find yourself a real estate agent. Orange County is the right place to find anyone's dream home.

You will find a plethora of home choices in every area of the county, from the north county convenience to downtown Los Angeles south to the coastal views of the county beach areas.

Your lifestyle governs the type of property you are seeking for your dream home. If it must be horse property you may want to look in several communities: Fullerton, Yorba Linda, Anaheim Hills, Orange and Villa Park to name a few.

There is a varied selection of homes priced for your viewing and zoned to allow horses. Equestrian centers and miles of horse trails are available throughout the county for the horse enthusiast.

Some people choose the beautiful estate areas as their choice for a dream home while others prefer the convenience and low maintenance of the wide selection of townhomes allowing them the flexibility of travel and the enjoyment of the many attractions available when living in Orange County.

The ever changing family's dream home is enhanced by the good schools found in Orange County as well as the large selection of colleges and universities.

FOCUS ON REAL ESTATE

These family homes are located throughout the county varying in size from the average three-bedroom, two-bath home to the very large five- and six-bedroom with multiple bath homes, in many price variations. Your local real estate agent can give you specifics on sizes and prices in the area of their expertise.

The dream home for the first-time buyer who just wants a home of their own, could be a condo or a small older home in some very nice location. Often a condo is the choice for these double-income first-time buyers as it allows them to have a more relaxed lifestyle with the community amenities most often available in the condominium complexes.

The small older home can offer many things, sometimes a lovely yard and possibly even a garden if that is what your dream includes.

The older home with upgraded amenities very often offers the best of both worlds, location in a settled, mature environment, construction with raised foundations and then the newer appliances. Of course, you often find the fixers and TLC needers among these older homes.

Everything and anything is possible, just tell your real estate agent what you want in your first time dream home.

The palatial dream castles are also available at a price, and in today's market that price could be a lot less than you ever dreamed. If a view, complete privacy, size or opulence in decor is what you are looking for in your dream home, any or all of these are available in many areas of Orange County.

Tell your real estate agent what you want and the price you are qualified to pay and expect to be pleased by all the options available to you today as you search for your dream home.

Today's real estate market is the stuff dreams are made of. We have the lowest interest rates in two decades, the most lenient loan programs and a very large inventory of homes from which to choose.

Linda Wilson and Gary Adams are among the newest residents of The Masters at The Fairways, a gated community on the Alta Vista Golf Course and Country Club in Placentia that start from the $270,000s

The Masters offers golf course living

When Linda Wilson and Gary Adams return to their new home at The Masters after a hard day's work, they say they really don't go home — but on vacation.

"With the palm trees, the golf course and the light and airy interiors, our home feels like a place we'd choose to go to on a vacation — it's so luxurious!" said Wilson. "We have a weekend home in the desert that we visit regularly, but lately we've just wanted to stay here and enjoy our new home."

The couple is one of the newest residents at The Masters at The Fairways, a gated community on the Alta Vista Golf Course and Country Club in Placentia. Starting from the $270,000s, the early California-style homes range in size from 2,410 to 2,747 square feet, and offer four to six bedrooms and up to three full baths.

Wilson and Adams, eight-year Placentia residents, watched the community develop since Greystone Homes started construction, and tracked the neighborhood's progress when they went on their morning walks. When Wilson decided to visit the models one day, she couldn't resist the award-winning Plan Two.

"I fell in love with it immediately and went home to tell Gary that he had to see our new home," said Wilson.

Adams also fell for their new home. "What first attracted me to the home was the entry way," he said. "Everything flows through from the living room and dining room, and then again from the family room and kitchen; and with the oversized windows, the design really works. Before, a house was just a place for me to sleep. This one is a real home."

With 2,572 square feet of living space, Plan Two offers up to four bedrooms with an optional den conversion, large enough for both Adams' and Wilson's home offices.

The Masters is situated off the 57 and 91 freeways, offering easy access for Wilson, a financial planner, and Adams, an administrator with the California State University system. They also enjoy close convenience to new shopping centers, Brea Mall, California State University, Fullerton, and local schools that are among the finest in Orange County.

Plan Two, chosen by the couple, showcases the appointments that highlight The Masters' traditional floor plans. A dramatic entry with a soaring volume ceiling greets visitors at the front door with welcoming light from the elegant patterned windows.

The downstairs living space of Plan Two is designed to have an airy, yet comfortable feel. The living and dining rooms are open to the second floor and the family room centerpiece is a warm and cozy fireplace.

The roomy kitchen has a breakfast nook and also features state-of-the-art built-in General Electric appliances, including a double oven, microwave, gas cooktop with sealed burners and Potscrubber dishwasher.

Natural oak cabinetry with finished interiors, hand-set ceramic tile countertops and European-style pullout faucets make the kitchen a gourmet's dream. Also downstairs are an interior laundry room and a powder room.

Plan Two's master suite connects to the master bath, where a jetted whirlpool tub offers a relaxing respite after a long day. A fully-tiled, glass-enclosed shower and two china basins are also featured, along with a walk-in closet system.

Quiet cul-de-sacs with architectural motifs from Spain, France and Italy create a distinctive atmosphere at The Glen. Starting at the $180,000s the collection of 72 detached homes offers three floor plans ranging from 1,504 to 1,953 square feet, with three to four bedrooms, 2½ baths and two-car garages.

May 7 opening set for The Glen

The grand opening of one of north Orange County's most prestigious golf communities, The Glen at The Fairways, is set for Saturday, May 7. A near sell-out of the first phase is predicted by builder Greystone Homes, based on the amount of interest shown for this gated neighborhood.

Quiet cul-de-sacs with architectural motifs from Spain, France and Italy create a distinctive atmosphere at The Glen. Starting at the $180,000s the collection of 72 detached homes offers three floor plans ranging from 1,504 to 1,953 square feet, with three to four bedrooms, 2½ baths and two-car garages.

Nestled behind the gates of The Fairways community, The Glen is next to the Alta Vista Golf Course and Country Club, offering home buyers one of Placentia's most peaceful locations. Families at The Fairways can enjoy the community's resort-quality amenities, including a pool and a park with a tot lot and barbecues.

"Based on the amount of interest we've had so far, many home buyers can't wait for the grand opening next weekend," said Sue Benway, sales representative.

Exterior details highlight homes at The Glen, including concrete tile roofs, insulated sectional roll-up garage doors, double-paned windows and accents of wood, brick and sculpted stone. To draw due attention to the front view of the home, side-entry two-car garages are utilized.

DIRECTIONS

Exit the 57 freeway at Chapman Avenue and travel east. Continue to Kraemer Boulevard and turn left. Go to the first signal, which is Alta Vista, and turn right. The Fairways gate will be on the left.

The Glen's quality workmanship is enhanced by its fine interior appointments: ceramic tile entry flooring, custom rounded wall corners, central air conditioning and heating, recessed ceiling downlighting, custom-crafted painted hardwood stairway, handrailings and balusters, interior laundry room, spacious linen closets and much more.

The family-oriented floor plans at The Glen include living areas with optional "great rooms" (a combined family room and living room) in Plans Two and Three. Grand entries and light and airy interiors are brightened by window-patterning and warmed by fireplaces.

One of the homes' many unique design elements include pass-through windows from the dining room to a roomy kitchen. The Glen's kitchens feature breakfast nooks and spacious counter tops, and Plan Three has a convenient center island work area.

Second level highlights include: master suites with vaulted ceilings and large windows; spacious master baths with walk-in closets; and extra bedrooms. Flexible options for all floor plans include bonus room and loft conversions.

- Plan One features 1,504 square feet of living space and has three bedrooms, 2½ baths and a roomy living room and dining room.
- The 1,678-square-foot Plan Two, with three bedrooms and 2½ baths, features a separate dining room open to the second floor, and the option for home buyers to choose a spacious "great room."
- The Glen's largest floor plan is the 1,953-square-foot, Plan Three, which features four bedrooms and 2½ baths, a separate dining room and an option for a "great room." A convenient island counter-top and a nook with window seating are kitchen highlights.

The Glen is located in the same private community as The Masters at The Fairways, a collection of early-California style homes priced from the $270,000s. The homes, some with golf course views, feature three floor plans ranging from 2,410 to 2,747 square feet, with four to six bedrooms and 2½ baths.

To reach The Fairways from the Orange (57) Freeway, exit Chapman Avenue and travel east. Continue to Kraemer Boulevard and turn left; go to the first signal, which is Alta Vista and turn right. The Fairways gate will be on the left. For more information about the forming priority list call (714) 524-1881.

She takes pride in her community

By Chris McKeen and Sonia S. Jekums
For the North County News

Marilyn Johnson, a longtime resident of Villa Park, takes pride in her community.

"I was appointed by the City Council of Villa Park to be the representative to the Volunteer Center of Greater Orange County," she said. "Villa Park is the smallest city in Orange County and we involve more volunteers than any other city."

A leader in many of her city's projects, she was ways and means chairman for the Villa Park Women's League. Johnson helped raise more than $9,200 this year. Proceeds benefited the local schools and library. Last year the volunteers helped paint and clean the local high school.

April 23, was Volunteer Connection Day. Along with a host of volunteers,

REALTORS WHO CARE

Johnson helped sell flashing blue lights in front of the local pharmacy and City Hall.

"Our community has no street lights and some of the addresses are not very visible. These flashing blue lights will help emergency vehicles locate the residences," she said.

A member of the Assistance League of Orange, Johnson said, "I go to a convalescent home and talk to patients once a week for a couple of hours and try to bring some cheer into their lives."

To honor all her efforts for her community, the Villa Park Women's League in 1993 nominated Johnson for the Clara Barton Humanitarian Award.

This dynamic, unselfish, giving lady's credo in life is reflected in this statement.

"I feel it is important to give back to your community," she said. "It does not take much time and the rewards that you receive in your heart are well worth it."

Marilyn Johnson can be reached at Orange Tree Realty at (714) 283-8300, ext. 312.

Brock neighborhood overlooks fishing lake

With no Mello Roos taxes, homeowners at Walden can look forward to saving thousands of dollars in tax assessments while enjoying complete family living in south Orange County.

This gated neighborhood of two-story residences by Brock Homes is located overlooking a quarter-acre fishing lake in Trabuco Canyon.

The designs in this collection offer four or five bedrooms in up to 3,307 square feet of living space. At Walden, prices begin from the high $200,000s, and a $10,000 Buyers Spending Account is now being offered.

Walden's location in Trabuco Canyon puts residents close to shopping, a number of growing business areas such as Irvine Spectrum and a number of world-class golf courses.

General Electric appliances including cooktops, oven/microwave combinations and dishwashers equip the kitchens. The handcrafted oak cabinetry is complemented by the mortar set ceramic-tile countertops.

In the master suites, oversized walk-in closets and elegant baths with oval tubs, ceramic-tile showers and dual-basin vanities emphasize luxury living. Separate sitting areas and view decks are offered in select plans.

The handsome exterior designs reflect the peaceful country-like setting with accents of brick, stone veneers or stucco. Front yard landscaping as well as rear- and sideyard fencing are included. Each home features a three-car garage with direct access and sectional roll-up doors.

The homes are reached by taking either the 405 or 5 Freeway south to Alicia Parkway and exit left. Travel east on Alicia Parkway to Santa Margarita Parkway and turn right. Turn right on Plano Trabuco and then left at Los Amigos to the sales office.

The sales office is open daily 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Fridays 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Call (714) 459-0498 for more information.

A look at lending programs that can benefit veterans

By Ken Garneau
For the North County News

"Californians are Finding Out," "The American Dream Coalition," "Housing Affordability," "First Time Home Buyer" programs, "How much dream home can I afford."

These are the topics and advertising campaigns that have been reverberating through the real estate and lending industries over the past several years.

During the past several weeks I have attempted to address these topics and those pertinent to the low-to-moderate income families, and will continue to do so in the future.

Last week we turned our attention away from the specialized programs offered through Fannie Mae and local agencies and highlighted the government types of programs lenders are offering the low-to-moderate-income buyers. I spotlighted FHA financing and its benefits and would now like to look at programs designed to help veterans.

The Department of Veteran's Affairs, a cabinet-level agency of the federal government in the Servicemen's Readjustment Act of 1944, authorized the agency to administer a variety of benefit programs designed to facilitate the adjustment of returning veterans to civilian life.

Among the benefit programs is the VA Home Loan Guarantee program, which encourages mortgage lenders to offer long term, low down payment financing to eligible veterans by partially guaranteeing the lender against loss in the event of a foreclosure.

The VA will guarantee a loan for any eligible veteran to purchase a home, provided his income will permit him to make the mortgage payments, credit history is acceptable, and he has funds to close. Like the FHA, the VA has more liberal common sense underwriting policies, enabling more veterans to purchase homes.

A few of the VA's attractive attributes are as follows:

- Maximum loan amount of $184,000 (including VA funding fee)
- No down payment required (property value cannot exceed maximum loan amount or down payment required)
- Higher qualifying ratios of 41 percent P.I.T.I. (if no debt), makes it easier for buyer to qualify
- Seller may pay all of the buyers closing costs
- Open to Reservists and National Guardsmen with six years of service
- No income restrictions
- Veterans can reuse their eligibility (previous loan paid and veteran out of title)
- VA loans are assumable
- Fixed and adjustable rate mortgages (adjustable qualifies at 1 percent above initial rate)

For more information on VA loan programs and eligibility criteria, or prequalifications, call Ken Garneau at Western Cities Mortgage Corp., (714) 669-1968 or (714) 563-5607. Opinions expressed are his and not necessarily those of the North County News.

A unique way to market one's self

Herb Vinegar, a veteran of residential real estate sales and marketing and a top real estate agent at ERA North Orange County Real Estate, has found a unique way to show clients the difference between an ordinary agent and an extraordinary agent.

Vinegar focuses on tailoring marketing and sales techniques that will increase his sales and guarantee a positive response.

"It is the little things in a marketing plan that make a difference between selling and not selling a home. I start by aggressively pricing and marketing each property I represent," Vinegar said.

With the help of his two assistants, both of whom are licensed real estate agents, Vinegar is able to duplicate his marketing and sales efforts for his clients.

"Having a trained staff in the office allows me the time to prospect for new buyers and sellers everyday and concentrate on finding qualified buyers for my clients," Vinegar said.

Prior to his career in real estate, Vinegar was an optician for 18 years, fitting glasses and contact lens.

Joyce Shore, an eight-year veteran with Century 21 Achievers, was recently named Top Producing Agent for 1993, said Denis Thomas, sales manager.

"Joyce's ongoing dedication to her clients well-being is one of the major keys to her continued success. Her time management and organizational skills are second to none," Thomas said.

REAL ESTATE PEOPLE

Joyce's production in 1993 earned her not only the coveted Centurion Award, given by Century 21 International, but she more than doubled the necessary production to finish as a Double Centurion Agent. A Centurion agent is rated in the top one half of 1 percent of all Century 21 agents in the world. Very few of these agents ever accomplish the goal of doubling the required production.

Shore, who moved to Yorba Linda 12 years ago with her husband Paul, taught at a business college before entering real estate. She enjoys golfing in her spare time and has been with Century 21 Achievers since getting her license in 1985.

Jeff DeAngelis, a top producing agent with Century 21 Achivers, attended two seminars aimed at educating real estate agents about the different methods of financing assistance available to new home buyers in the Orange County area.

Working through a committee of the North Orange County Association of Realtors, DeAngelis volunteered his time and efforts to research and developed some items taught in the seminars. The committee formed a task force in October 1993 to start this undertaking.

The two seminars scheduled have been an overwhelming success and more are now planned.

Our Project Superintendent says his job is like being a movie director.

If that's the case, he should win an Oscar. Using the architect's plans as his script and 40 to 50 top subcontractors as his cast, Jim Lewis knows what it takes to put on a big production. ✦ As Project Superintendent at The Masters homes in Placentia, Jim is passionate about his job. Like a conscientious director, he's busy behind the scenes coordinating people and making sure they're giving their best performance. From concrete slab to welcome mat, Jim does an award-winning job directing every phase of construction. He demands that the job is done right, on time and within budget. With his high standards, you'd think he was building his own home. ✦ It's that kind of pride and caring that makes each one of these homes appeal to the toughest critic of all, the buyer. Listen to these rave reviews from a couple of new homeowners:

"We've been extremely pleased with our new home. Jim, our superintendent, has been fantastic."

"There were some slight modifications we wanted on our home. Jim had the job done the same day."

Jim Lewis
Project Superintendent

✦ The Masters is situated in a gated community alongside a spectacular golf course. Complete with all the amenities of a resort. There's a private recreation center with a very inviting pool and spa. A large grassy park. And a tot lot for lots of tots. What's truly remarkable is these five- and six-bedroom homes start from the $270,000's.

✦ We know how lucky we are to work with someone as outstanding as Jim Lewis. But that's what it takes to produce an outstanding home. It's no wonder we like to call him The Masters' master. Well, as they say in Hollywood, that's a wrap.

Rates as of Apr. 21, 1994. All loans listed are conventional 30/30 for loans below $203,150 except as specified in the "Notes" column. Points are the per cent of the loan balance paid to the lender at the time of loan closing. For fixed-rate loans, borrowers are advised to compare lock-in features; for adjustable programs ask the lenders if the loan has the potential for negative amortization as well as other important factors such as the index, margin, Caps, insurance and lock-in. Lender Type is: B = bank; K = mortgage banker; R = mortgage broker; S = savings & loan. Mortgage bankers and brokers are licensed by the California Department of Real Estate as either a broker or corporation. For more information call Calif. DRE at (916) 227-0931.

All Annual Percentage Rates (A.P.R.) are calculated by Mortgage News Co. based on a $203,150 loan amount, the points as shown and $700 total fees. An A.P.R. is an estimated annual cost of the loan to the borrower, and they are included in this chart for comparison only. When applying for a loan, Federal Truth-in-Lending law requires lenders to calculate an A.P.R. specific to each loan offer. All quotes are not an offer to enter into a loan agreement. All rates are subject to change; verify rates and terms prior to applying for a loan. All lenders charge other fees in addition to those shown, as well as provide loans with different rates and terms for different loan amounts. For a consumer guide on how to shop for a mortgage, send $4.50 check payable to Mortgage News Co., 1610 East 17th St., Suite 100, Santa Ana, CA 92701. Mid-May auction planned for senior condominiums

Senior home buyers looking to save tens of thousands of dollars off the purchase price of a new home are looking ahead to S.K. Stevens Auction & Marketing Services' mid-May auction of a select number of condominium homes at Hillcrest, a neighborhood for seniors in Fullerton.

Minimum selling prices at the upcoming auction will start at $59,000 for the upgraded one-bedroom condominium residences, which had been previously priced up to $121,000, said Susan K. Stevens, president and principal of the Laguna Hills-based auction firm.

"As just one example of the tremendous dollar-savings at the Hillcrest auction, a premium condominium home previously priced at $121,000 will be offered at a minimum selling price starting from $67,000 — that's a savings of $54,000," Stevens said.

Stevens stresses that there are no hidden reserve prices at the Hilcrest auction, so the homes will be sold to the highest bidder at or above the minimum sale price. To be eligible to participate in the May 15 auction at Hillcrest, buyers must visit the on-site auction information center to register and to tour the homes before the auction date. When they visit the center, interested buyers may also pick up detailed information regarding the loan programs offered by North American Mortgage Co.

Active seniors will appreciate homes designed specifically with their residential needs in mind. Each condominium home at Hillcrest boasts a living room and dining area, a gourmet kitchen, a private master bedroom suite with a walk-in closet and a full bath, and a spacious private patio or balcony.

Secured subterranean parking offers elevator access to the homes, and an exercise room and a laundry room are located on each floor. Many of the homes have hillside or park views.

Easy-care interiors include such amenities as ceramic tile kitchen countertops, custom stained oak kitchen cabinetry, self-cleaning gas oven and range, time-saving microwave oven, multi-cycle dishwasher, ceramic tile flooring in kitchen and bath, energy-efficient heating and air conditioning system, dual-glazed windows, decorator-selected lighting fixtures, multi-function monitored burglar alarm system and fire alarm system, direct line to 911 emerency service and fire sprinklers.

DIRECTIONS

Exit the Riverside Freeway (91) at Harbor Boulevard. From the 57 Freeway exit Chapman Avenue. Travel west to Harbor Boulevard then turn right and travel north to Brea Boulevard. Bear right one block to Hillcrest. The information center is located at 1501 Brea Blvd. in Fullerton.

The homes are situated across from Hillcrest Park. St. Jude Hospital and other medical facilities are nearby. REAL ESTATE POINTS OF LAW
By
ROSE POTHIER, ESQ.

How much can a lender charge for a late fee?

How much can my real estate lender charge me for a late charge on my home loan? I have heard different things and would like you to clarify the question for me.

Generally speaking, lenders whose loans are secured by real property are permitted to charge late charges if the payments made on the loan are late and paid after the due date so long as there is a contract provision in the promissory note allowing them to do so.

How much can be charged depends upon the type of real property involved and whether or not it is owner occupied.

Where non-residential real property is involved, the limitations set forth in California Civil Code No. 2954.5 apply except to Consumer Finance Lenders and Commercial Finance Lenders (collectively CFLs) licensed by the California Department of Corporations.

In the case of the latter, there appears to be no limitations on the amount of the late charge which may be imposed by a CFL except that late charges must be reasonable in amount, not "unconscionable" and reasonably calculated so as to reimburse the lenders for their administrative costs in handling the late payments.

Except where CFLs are concerned, with some exceptions, residential mortgage loans are subject to maximum late charge limitations of California Civil Code No. 2954.4, which prohibits a charge over 6 percent of the installment amount and allows a grace period of 10 days.

Real estate lenders may also be limited in the maximum late charges if they make loans insured by the Federal Housing Administration or guaranteed by the Veterans Administration which limit the late charge from 2 percent to 10 percent depending on the type of loan and when the loan was obtained. Also, real estate lenders who sell loans to the Federal National Mortgage Association (FNMA) or the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corp. (FHLMC) are limited depending on the type of loan and when the loan was obtained.

WHAT DOES "ONE-PRICE" MEAN?

If you're like most of the people we are talking to these days, then you may have lots of questions about One Price and what it means exactly. We, at Campbell Ford, are the one price leader for the greater Orange County area and we would like to let you know why.

SAVE WASTED TIME.

Don't spend hours negotiating price. Your time is too valuable to waste chiseling out a deal. Our first price has already been reduced to the rock bottom lowest, so you get your best price first.

EDUCATION.

Our Sales Consultants are product specialists. We believe our job is to explain and demonstrate all the key features of the vehicles so that you are well informed about your important investment decision.

STRESS MANAGEMENT

Don't get caught playing cat & mouse with a sales person and his mystery manager. Stop Playing Games and let us take the stress out of your car purchase.

Campbell Ford's famous One Bottom Line Price, Every Car, Everyday, for Everyone. lets you relax and experience a car purchase like you've never have before. We invite you to find out why we are the One Price Leader with one of the largest selections of new vehicles to choose from.

If your salesperson can't answer these four questions...

1. "What is the price?"
2. "What is the interest rate?"
3. "What is the payment?"
4. "What is my car worth?"

...you're in the wrong dealership!
